Hospice UK is the national charity for hospice and end of life care. We work to ensure everyone affected by death, dying and bereavement gets the care and support they need, when they need it.

We believe that everyone, no matter who they are, where they are or why they are ill, should receive the best possible care at the end of their life. No one should die in avoidable pain or suffering.

Our mission is to transform the way society cares for the dying and those around them. To empower individuals, communities and populations to embrace the ethos of hospice care and extend its breadth and reach to improve everyone’s experience of death, dying and bereavement.

Our ambitious strategy is the blueprint for how we can achieve the transformation that is needed and sets out the following four strategic goals that will be driving our work over the next five years:

- Extend the reach and enable hospice quality care to be delivered in any setting
- Tackle inequality and widen access to hospice care
- Work with communities to build capacity and resilience to care for those at the end of their life
- Empower a strong, dynamic and responsive hospice sector.

Hospice UK offers a dynamic, supportive and rewarding workplace for its approx. 80 staff. At the heart of our organisation is a strong team culture in which all staff play an important part. Our organisational values are: collaboration, compassion, inclusive, innovative and knowledgeable
Job description

Purpose of role

The post holder will work with the Head of Policy, Advocacy & Research and the Policy and Advocacy Manager (Scotland) to ensure death, dying and bereavement is a political, policy and public priority in Scotland and Northern Ireland. Working with hospices and other services, people who use those services and their families, parliamentarians, policy makers and campaigners, this post will play a key role in ensuring that Hospice UK effects change for people in need of palliative and end of life care and how that care is delivered.

The Senior Policy and Advocacy Officer role holds vital responsibilities within the team and organisation. They will bring energy, creativity and co-ordination skills to design and lead a variety of projects that help to achieve our goals, build subject expertise to develop persuasive policy materials, and apply empathetic, tactical approaches to influencing in the interests of people at the end of life and those close to them.

This is initially a fixed term contract of 1 year, designed to take advantage of the significant opportunity that currently exists to further the cause of end of life care in Scotland and Northern Ireland, and take advantage of current public and political interest in the issue.

Key tasks and responsibilities

Policy analysis, influencing and campaigning

Working individually, with internal teams, Hospice UK members and external partners as required, the post will:

- Lead, support, plan, deliver and evaluate policy projects that will contribute to Hospice UK’s strategic aims, in consultation with the Policy and Advocacy Manager (Scotland) and Head of Policy, Advocacy & Research.
- Analyse a wide range of relevant policy, research and other data and quickly reach conclusions, identify potential impacts and alternative solutions, and develop action plans in order for Hospice UK to effectively influence and bring about change.
- Think creatively and show determination to ensure work and recommendations are heard by decision makers and the wider public, including working closely and strategically with colleagues in Campaigns and Communications.
- Develop a thorough understanding of policies, strategies and datasets in the external environment most relevant to people needing end of life care and assess their potential impact.
- Prepare succinct and influential reports, consultation responses, briefings, articles and web content, etc, on policy issues including a focus on reducing inequalities.
- Represent Hospice UK at appropriate external meetings, conferences and events, including giving presentations.
- Establish and maintain effective working relationships with policy leads in government, decision makers, health and care providers and other external stakeholders, including people with lived experience of palliative and end of life care
- Proactively identify and build up relationships with key champions for palliative and end of life care within Scottish Government and the Northern Ireland Executive (as appropriate)
- Monitor the implications of legislation before and during its passage through Scottish Parliament and advise on appropriate interventions.

Team
- Deputise for the Head of Policy, Advocacy & Research and Policy and Advocacy Manager (Scotland)
- Contribute to the overall work of the Policy and Advocacy team across the UK
- To work with the Policy and Advocacy Manager (Scotland) to ensure the effective communication of our policy work and impact, and to contribute to the development of organisational policy positions and key messages.

Working across Hospice UK
- Work across Hospice UK's teams to ensure that our policy and advocacy work complements and effectively supports the wider work of the organisation.
- Ensure examples of good practice and relevant updates from Scotland and Northern Ireland are shared across the organisation

Other tasks
- Respond to policy-related enquiries from hospices and others as required.
- Occasional travel around the UK, including overnights.
- Any other duties that may reasonably be requested of the post holder.

This role profile is not exhaustive and is subject to review in conjunction with the post holder and according to future changes and developments in the service.
